

Mowing season: A deadly danger for cats!

Cats are attracted to tall grass and crop fields. But beware: At some point, they will be mown. Not all cats will flee when they hear agricultural machines. Some may just crouch, potentially putting themselves in the path of the mowing machine.

Injuries from mowers can be devastating, with the loss of a limb being the least of them. To avoid this, ensure you contact the farmer as early as possible and ask him to notify you one day before mowing, for example by text message. This way you will be able to keep your cats indoors during this time.

A text message can save lives.
